

Herald Cameramen Tell Their Story

ILLNESS DETECTOR—Miss Mary Hendley tests in Washington an iridometer, invention of Dr. R. W. Bennett, eye specialist of Indianapolis. The instrument lights the iris and betrays tell-tale spots which denote illness and injury.

NEWEST SUBMARINE—The U. S. navy's newest submarine, V-6, is placed into commission at Mare Island navy yard, California.

NINETY-ONE YEARS YOUNG!—While awaiting his 91st birthday July 8, John D. Rockefeller plays golf at his Pocantico Hills, N. Y., estate.

HAVE A CUP OF COFFEE?—This wayside sandwich shop at St. John, Mo., attracts people because it is a replica of a coffee pot. It is 35 feet high, 15 feet wide and contains two floors.

TWO MONTHS' OLD BABY FLIES—Dr. L. Stacks of Lorain, O., holds his two months' old son, Leonard, with whom he flew to Cleveland from St. Louis, where he had brought the infant for an operation.

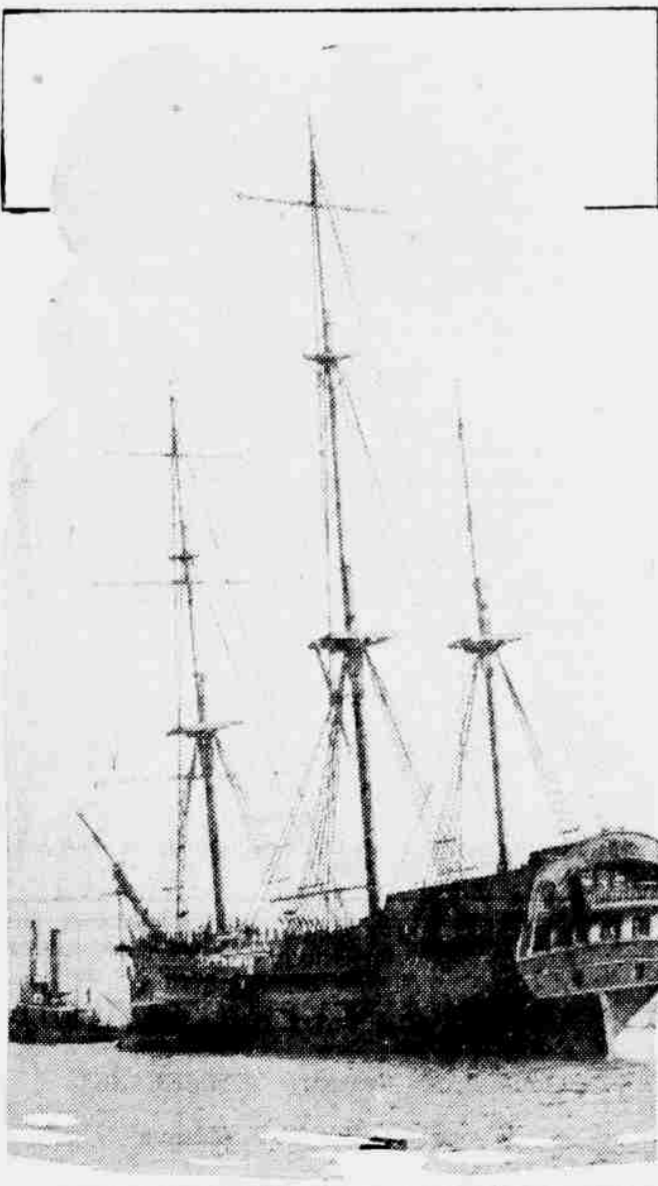

HER RECOMMENDATION—For a follow through unhampered on the golf course, Miss Melba Hansen of Ogden, Utah, recommends an abbreviated swimming costume.

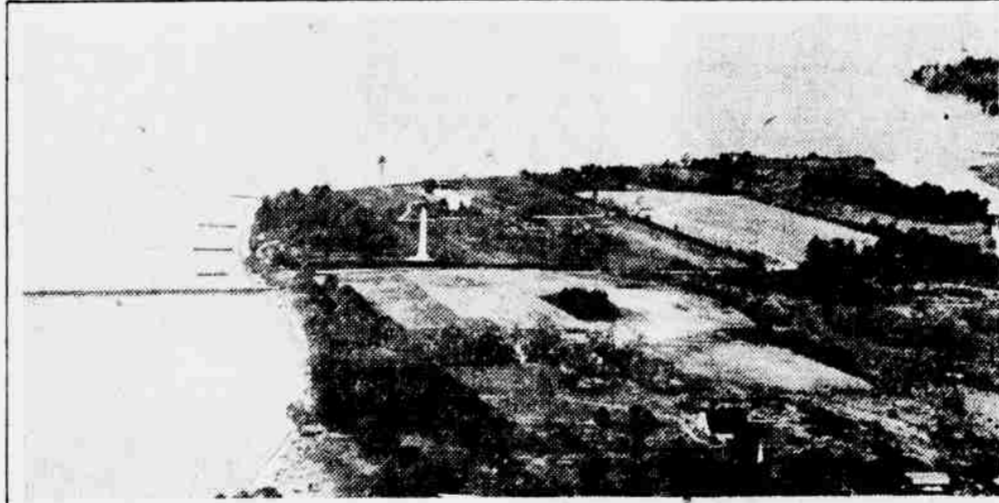

PRIZED PHOTO—Poultny Bigelow, writer who has returned from a visit to the former German kaiser at Doorn, Holland, where Bigelow apologized for statements he made regarding the ex-ruler during the war, has this prized photo of the meeting at which broken friendship was renewed. Left to right: Mr. and Mrs. Poultny Bigelow, and the former Kaiser Wilhelm and his wife.

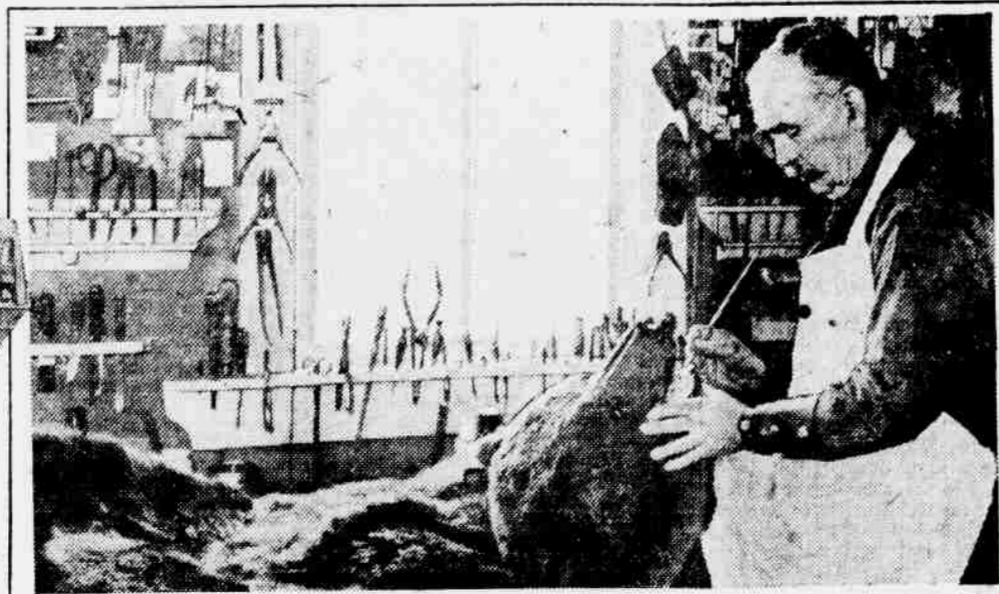

DOOMED—Wooden vessels built by the shipping board during the war, if not sold, are being put out of the way. Here is the Moritz, set afire in Boston and loaded with sand to cause her to sink rapidly.

SHADES OF COLUMBUS!—Such a vessel as has not been seen in the last several hundred years startles sailors in Los Angeles harbor as it passes out to sea. You have guessed right—it was built by a movie company for a film of old-time sailing days. Observe the elaborate "back porch."

HISTORIC ISLAND FOR SALE—The island of Jamestown, Va., site of the first permanent English colony in America, where Captain John Smith landed with his cavaliers in 1607, and home of Pocahontas, is for sale. Price $1,000,000. Mrs. Edward Barney of Dayton, O., desires the government to buy it for a historical park.

YOU CAN ALMOST HEAR HIM GROWL—Harry Stanford, veteran Glacier National park taxidermist, works on a huge grizzly bear that was killed in the big game region of the Flathead country.

DOES FIREPROOFING PREVENT FIRE?—An experiment is undertaken at the New York State College of Forestry, Syracuse, to determine the resistance to fire of fire-proofed wood. A small strip of fireproofed wood is suspended from a spring balance and is extended downward inside a metal stack. A flame is applied and the loss of weight of the wood, at given times, determines how quickly it could be destroyed.

BACK TO CALIFORNIA!—Clara Bow, "It" girl of the movies, following a trip east, returns to California with the information that she and Harry Richman would be married "as soon as work permits."
